16-17 November Worsley Park Hotel & Country Club, Manchester

A thinking space on the future of local transport

The second Local Transport Summit will be taking place in Manchester at Worsley Park Marriott Hotel and Country Club on the 16-17 November, sponsored by Steer Davies Gleave, hosted by Transport for Greater Manchester, with the Department for Transport again a key partner. TfGM will share their own thinking on strategic transport issues with those addressing similar challenges.

The event will provide a relaxed residential environment for 24 hours to consider the fundamentals of good practice in determining transport strategy, setting priorities, linking transport objectives to wider social and economic ones, and embracing changing public and political values. The event includes an informal evening networking dinner.

We welcome readers of Local Transport Today to join us and be involved in this senior level discussion.

Thursday afternoon - 1 Where are we now?

Key issues in local transport decision-making

To set the scene we have invited four key commentators to assess the present local transport landscape and identify fundamental issues and opportunities to enhance the way we make decisions and apply resources.

When we've heard their thoughts we'll go into breakout discussions to explore the implications.

Martin Capstick
Director, Regional Transport Strategies, DfT

Iain Docherty
Professor of Public Policy and Governance, Glasgow University

Steve Gooding
Director, RAC Foundation

Paul Buchanan
Partner, Volterra Partners LLP

Cecilia Wong
Professor of Spatial Planning, University of Manchester

Thursday afternoon - 2 Rising to the challenge

Transport's role in Greater Manchester's strategic vision

Our host area is currently working on a 25 year vision for the Greater Manchester area and we will explore the way in which transport fits into wider objectives and the process being adopted to ensure decisions are inclusive and robust. Presentations will be followed by a panel discussion.

Nicola Kane
Head of Strategic Planning and Research, TfGM

Kathy Oldham
Chief Resilience Officer, Greater Manchester Combined Authority

Eamonn Boylan
Chief Executive, Stockport Council

Simon Warburton
Transport Strategy Director, TfGM

Donna Hall
Chief Executive, Wigan MBC

Thursday evening Sharing other perspectives

The political and placemaking context

The evening networking and dinner will include important perspectives from the world of politics and civic leadership from Greater Manchester Mayor Andy Burnham and a challenging analysis of the planning and development framework to which transport must relate from Paul Murrain.

We'll be networking before, during, and after the dinner, including drinks in the historic Worsley Old Hall.

Andy Burnham
Mayor, Greater Manchester

Paul Murrain
Paul Murrain Urban Design

Friday morning Positively tackling realities

What can we take away to do things better

Theory meets practice in our final two sessions where, after a keynote address on the latest thinking of future transport demand, we will consider steps that can be taken now to apply new approaches and practical measures to unlock more effective local transport planning and delivery and better use of available resources. Then there will be 3 breakout groups and a plenary to sum up ways forward.

Peter Jones
Professor of Transport and Sustainable Development, UCL

Andrew Forster
Editor, Local Transport Today

Keith Mitchell
Chairman, Peter Brett Associates

Steven Bishop
